s□.

We want our children to feel comfortable. Chúng tôi mu□n các em c□m th□y tho□i mái.

Kathy: Our guest today is Sara Scott.

Sara is a doctor at a large hospital in Chicago.

Hello, Sara.

You work mostly with children, don't you?

Sara: That's right. Most of my patients are children.

Kathy: Is your hospital only for children?

Sara: No, it isn't. It's a very large hospital.

But the fourth floor of the hospital is only for children.

The rooms look like children's rooms.

There are funny pictures on the walls.

And there are colorful curtains on the windows.

Sometimes there are even pictures on the ceilings.

Kathy: Why are there pictures on the ceilings?

Sara: So that the children can look at the pictures when they are lying in their beds.

We want our children to feel comfortable.

Kathy: Our guest is Dr. Sara Scott. We'll talk more after our break.
